In the electronic age, these tools and resources include County "data/information" in various formats (e.g. on electronic media, paper, microfiche) and County "information systems" (e.g. computers, servers, networks, Internet access, fax, telephones and voice mail), whether owned, provided or maintained by or on behalf of the County.

The County has established policies and procedures based on best business practices to support the performance of the County's business and to protect the integrity, security and confidentiality of the County's data/information and information systems. Access to County data/information or information systems is necessary to the performance of regular assignments and duties. Failure to comply with these policies and procedures may constitute a failure in the performance of regular assignments/duties. [1] For purposes of this summary, the term "user" shall refer to any person authorized to use County data/information and information systems to perform work in support of the business, programs or projects in which the County is engaged. It also applies to users accessing other networks, including the Internet, through County information systems.

5. Attempts by users to access any data or programs contained on County information systems for which they do not have authorization will be considered a misuse.
6. Users shall not share their County account(s) or account password(s) with anyone, use another's account to masquerade as that person, or falsely identify themselves during the use of County information systems.
7. The integrity and security of County data/information depends on the observation of proper business practices by all authorized users. Users are requested to report any weaknesses in County information system security and any incidents of possible misuse or violation of County IT policies to the appropriate County representative.
8. Users shall not divulge Dial-up or Dial-back modem phone numbers to anyone.
